History of Roehampton

Froebel College, Roehampton, Art Lecture in the 1930s

Students graduating, circa 2000

Through the oldest of our four Colleges, Whitelands, the University of Roehampton has been providing higher education to women longer than any other University in the country.

Roehampton is comprised of four historic Colleges: Digby Stuart, Froebel, Southlands and Whitelands, which were all formed in the 19th century. When you join Roehampton as a student, you will become a member of one of them.

Your College will become your local community. Each College has a thriving social scene and its own sports teams; they help create a healthy sense of competition and college pride.

Our values come from our rich history, built on community, engagement and partnership, with a belief that no matter your background, we can help realise your ambitions.

Digby Stuart College

Digby Stuart College was first established in 1874 as a women's teacher training college. Today Digby Stuart is home to some of our newest facilities, including our Media Hub, Welcome Centre and Library.

Froebel College

Founded in 1892, the ethos of the College is based on the philosophy of Friedrich Froebel. The College is based within and around Grove House, which dates back to 1792.

Southlands College

Southlands College opened on 26 February 1872 as a training college for women teachers. The College is committed to the causes of equality, social justice and community engagement.

Whitelands College

Founded in 1841 as a teachers' training college, it is among the oldest higher education institutions in England, and one of the very first to provide education for women. Today it occupies a beautiful 14-acre site overlooking London's Richmond Park.

Our campus

Social spaces

We have a range of bars, social spaces and catering outlets to suit all tastes. Our venues host events including club nights, live music and weekly markets. We also have College Kitchens, so if you are commuting to campus you can store and heat your up food. There are also plenty of opportunities for you to stay active through our on-campus gym and sports courts.

Excellent academic facilities

Whatever course you study, at Roehampton you'll be working in state-of-the-art facilities. This includes our brand new media centre with film studios, editing suites and Mac computer rooms, specialist laboratories for Life and Health Sciences and Psychology students, a practice law court and our dance and drama performance spaces.

Library

Our award-winning library houses 1,200 study spaces and hundreds of thousands of books and research materials across nearly 8,000 metres of shelving and five floors.

Acres of green space

From the Roehampton Mile lap around campus, to catch-ups on the lawn by the lake, there's plenty of space to stretch out in between your lectures. Or why not volunteer to look after the campus rabbits and chickens, or grow crops with Growhampton?

Research at Roehampton

At Roehampton, we develop ideas that help us to understand our world. With international reach, our research
informs policy, enriches culture and improves people's lives.

When you join us, you will be taught by leading experts right from your first year of study. Our staff carry out world-class research, from discovering new animal species to uncovering evidence about human history.

Roehampton is proud to have been ranked the most research-intensive modern university in the country by Research Excellence Framework (2014).

People who take part in regular exercise burn less calories on body maintenance than people who don't do any strenuous activity, dramatically reducing the calorie burning gains of exercise, according to new research led by the University of Roehampton. Led by Professor Lewis Halsey of the School of Life and Health Sciences at The University of Roehampton and Dr Vincent Careau of the University of Ottawa (Canada), the team also found that adults with the highest body mass index (BMI) burned even less calories in the background after an increase in activity.

With many current weight loss programmes using additive models to calculate how many calories should be burned to reduce fat loss, and the rise of digital exercise trackers such as Fitbit and Apple Watch highlighting people's calories burned during a day, this study debunks the belief that the calories burned from exercise easily translate into extra calories burned overall for the day.

The largest research study into the impact of Covid-19 on the mental health of healthcare workers (HCWs) in the UK revealed a 300% increase in those suffering from the highest levels of stress, anxiety and depression during the first wave of Covid-19, compared to before the pandemic. The groundbreaking study, led by Dr James Gilleen at the University of Roehampton and published in the British Journal of Psychiatry Open, surveyed 2,773 workers across all levels of the NHS from 52 UK NHS trusts, shortly after the first peak of the pandemic in April and May 2020.

By learning that a lack of PPE, inadequate pandemic preparedness as well as poor training and up-to-date information on Covid-19 clinical practice are all primary factors associated with the most severe cases of mental health issues, this impactful study aims to help both the NHS and the UK government not only to address the urgent need for mental health support for NHS staff, but also ensure that the same issues are not repeated in future waves of Covid-19.

Professor Molly Scott Cato, Professor of Green Economics and former Green MEP for South West England, has been leading talks to discuss the future of environmental policy and what the global pandemic means for the planet. Professor Cato has spent several decades developing the discipline of Green Economics, with the aim of ensuring economic success does not threaten the environment. This includes work on policies in sustainable finance to shift investment away from fossil fuels and towards renewables and sustainable sectors.

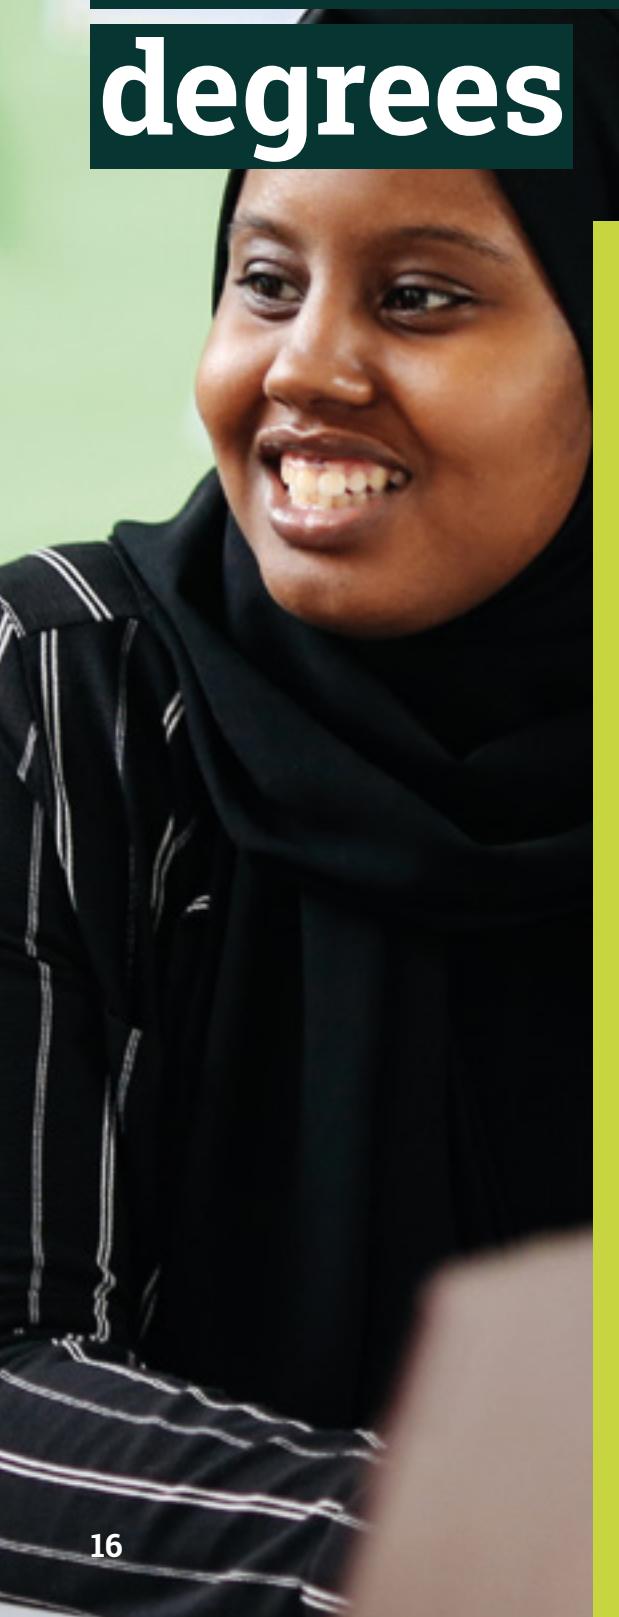

Her book, Sustainable Finance: Using the Power of Money to Change the World was published on 4 January 2022. The book focuses on an overview of sustainable finance, with a specific focus on its origins, its policy focus, and the practitioner dimension.

Professor of Sociology at the University of Roehampton, Mark McCormack, has been awarded a £15,000 grant to examine the impact of Covid-19 on London's queer nightlife in collaboration with Professor Fiona Measham, Chair in Criminology at the University of Liverpool.

The research will assess the impact of Covid-19 on creative practitioners in London's queer nightlife economy, and the problems that they have faced such as financial (in)security, community engagement and physical and mental wellbeing. The study will also take into account how these impacts differ by age, class, disability, ethnicity, gender identity and sexuality. Professors McCormack and Measham will also investigate strategies and policies that can support London's queer nightlife, and the broader queer community in the aftermath of Covid-19.

“Dear First Year Me”

We know that deciding to go to university can be really exciting, but also daunting for some, so we asked our current students what they would say to their first-year selves. We hope that their advice might be reassuring for you as you're considering your next step.

“You’ll be absolutely fine! Just don’t be afraid to come out of your shell and be less shy (although you eventually became more confident and the person you wanted to become in the last 3 years anyway!). But just be yourself and make sure to make the most of every opportunity that comes your way!”

“Throw yourself into new opportunities and new experiences.”

“Enjoy every moment and you’ll meet amazing friends!”

“Take plenty of photos! You’ll always cherish the memories.”

“Discover a new skill or activity; even if you don’t stick with it, at least you gave it a go!”

“Don’t forget to bring a notepad and pen!”

“Decorate your room to help yourself feel more at home.”

“Don’t skip the 9am’s!”

Foundation Year Degrees

At Roehampton, we believe in helping our students to develop the confidence, knowledge and adaptability they need for a successful graduate career and fulfilling life, which is why we offer a Foundation Year option for many of our undergraduate programmes.

What is a degree with a foundation year?

They are four-year courses which have a foundation year at the start to give you academic and practical experience, designed to give you the skills to successfully complete your chosen degree and get the career you want. The foundation year will:

- Give you knowledge in the subject you want to study
- Build your confidence, and help you get to know your personal strengths
- Develop your ability to adapt your knowledge and skills to new situations, and to the workplace

Once you have successfully completed the foundation year, you will move onto the main degree programme you are studying.

Throughout all your studies you will be given personal study and career support, in friendly community, where you will have the chance to develop your interests outside your subject of study.

How is the degree structured?

During the first year, we teach over two semesters – Autumn and Spring. You will complete six modules in total. The modules have been designed to equip you with the key skills needed to complete the degree you choose. In Autumn, you will complete modules in Academic English as well as subject-area modules. In Spring, you will complete modules in Academic English, subject-area modules as well as a Disciplinary Investigation.

Once you have completed and passed these modules at the end of Year 0, you will be ready to move into the first year of your degree, along with a network of friends and peers across our six academic Schools/Faculties.

Who should apply for a degree with a foundation year?

Degrees with a foundation year at Roehampton are a great option if you don't have traditional qualifications or do not meet the requirements to go straight onto an undergraduate degree. We welcome applications from students of all ages and backgrounds, with and without work experience.

How to apply

Most students applying for undergraduate study will do so via UCAS (ucas.com).

You can apply for up to five courses at UK higher education institutions using the UCAS service. Please note that UCAS do charge a fee for submitting an application using this route. Once we receive your application from UCAS, we aim to make a decision on it within a few days.

Once you have heard back from all the institutions you have applied to, you need to decide which application will be your 'firm' choice (first choice) and your 'insurance' choice (second choice). During the time it takes for you to make your decision, we will contact you by email, phone and occasionally by post with more information about studying with us.

You may submit late applications; usually this is by the end of June; however, please be aware that if courses become full, we may not be able to make offers on late applications. After the June deadline, you will only be able to make an application via the UCAS Clearing service.

International students have the option to apply using the application form on our website at any point in the year.

There is no charge to make an application via this route.

Fees and funding

Tuition fees

The tuition fees are set annually, and are different for home, EU and international students.

Please check our website for the latest fee information including details on part-time fees:

roehampton.ac.uk/student-support/financial-support-and-guidance/

No fees up front

You can apply for a tuition fee loan from the government if you live in England, Wales, Scotland or Northern Ireland, are classified as a home student and you have secured a place in higher education for studying your first degree.

EU students should check our website for the latest information on fees and tuition fee loans.

Support with living costs

Home students are also eligible for a maintenance loan from the government to help with living costs. Part of the loan is income assessed and the amount you receive will depend on factors such as if you choose to live away from home or not. If you apply to Roehampton, you will be eligible for a larger loan because the University is based in London. The maximum loan for 2022 entry is currently £12,667.

For the most up-to-date information, please see:

gov.uk/student-finance

When do I repay the tuition fee and maintenance loans?

You don't start repaying any loans until the April after graduation and only once you are working and earning more than £27,295 a year*. If your income drops below this threshold at any point, then your repayments would also stop. You repay 9% of your income above £27,295. After 30 years, any outstanding loan is written off.

*This repayment threshold is correct at time of publication. For the most up-to-date information, please see: gov.uk/student-finance

Extra help

Depending on your individual circumstances, you may also be eligible for extra support from the government in the form of bursaries and grants.

For full details, please see:

gov.uk/student-finance

Scholarships and bursaries

The University of Roehampton currently offers a range of scholarships including:

Academic Excellence Scholarship: Undergraduate, first-degree students who perform strongly in A-levels, the International Baccalaureate and equivalent qualifications could qualify for up to £3000.

We also offer many subject specific scholarships. The latest information can be found on our website:

roehampton.ac.uk/finance/scholarships

Part-time job opportunities

Support for students

Accommodation

Living away from home can be a daunting experience at first, but at Roehampton there is a lot of support in place. All students on campus are supported by a Flat Rep, who will live either in their flat or in a nearby one. They are there to ensure that if students have any questions or issues they can help them address them, as well as signpost them to other relevant services in the University.

Academic support

Our extensive support services are one of the reasons that our students thrive. Every student is assigned a dedicated Academic Guidance Tutor who is a member of academic staff in their school or faculty. Tutors offer personalised study advice, help choose modules and provide advice on future careers.

We also have a team of Academic Achievement Advisers, who run workshops and 1:1 sessions to help students manage their time, undertake research, write dissertations and learn effective note-taking.

This prospectus was accurate at the time of going to print, February 2022. It is important therefore that you check the University website for updates as some information is subject to change.

The University will endeavour to deliver the course in accordance with the description applied to it in the University's prospectus and on the website for the academic year in which you begin the course. However, the University will be entitled to make reasonable changes to the course, including to content or syllabus of the course where developments in the subject area make that necessary, or to the location, method of delivery or methods of assessment on the course. In making any such changes, the University will aim to make the minimum changes necessary and will notify and consult with affected students in advance about any changes that are required. If the University changes your course and you are not satisfied with the changes, you will be offered the opportunity to withdraw from the programme and, if required, reasonable support to transfer to another provider.

Further, circumstances beyond the University's reasonable control may prevent it from delivering the courses as described. Examples of such circumstances could include unanticipated departure of key members of University staff or where numbers recruited to the course are such that it is not possible to deliver an appropriate quality of education for students. In these circumstances, the University will take all reasonable steps to minimise any resultant disruption, by, for example, offering those students the chance to move to another course or institution or by delivering a modified version of the same course, but to the full extent that is possible under the general law, the University excludes liability for any loss and/or damage suffered by any applicant or student as a result of those circumstances.
